

Albufeira

This town was a thriving seaport with its own castle that was later destroyed in the earthquake of 1755. Most of the older parts of the town that survived have been carefully maintained. In the Roman times it was known as Baltum, but was later changed by the Moors to Al-Buhera. It became an important trading port during the Moors 8th Century occupation. During the "War of the Miguels," the town was besieged and set ablaze. The destroyed town suffered a very long period of poverty and has now only really recovered with the growth of tourism. Albufeira has its share of historic sites, but it is better known for its beautiful beaches which draw millions of tourist each year.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Nice Beaches

Praia de Balaia, Praia de Castelo, Praia de Falésia, Praia de Galé, Olhos d'Água, Praia de Maria Luisa, and Praia de São Rafael.

The Old Town

Many of Albufeira's oldest buildings were destroyed in the 1755 earthquake but the old town still has an old-fashioned, leisurely charm all of its own. Wander down cobbled streets lined with little shops, sidewalk cafes, and the odd art gallery and museum.

Torre Do Relogio (Clock Tower)

This is the "landmark" of the city. From this tower, you can hear its hourly chimes (on Rua Bernardino de Sousa).

Torre Sineira (Bell Tower)

Built in 1869, it is part of the Parish Church Edifice and has a belfry with eight bells.

OTHER SIGHTS

- Museums: O Museu Arqueológico-Histórico and Galeria de Arte
- Churches: Igreja da Misericórdia, Igreja de Santa Ana, Igreja de São Sebastião
- Other towns near Albufeira: Ar mação de Pera, Boliqueime, Guia, Paderne with its ruined castle perched on an isolated hill some distance from the village. At Ponte Grande, there are impressive caves with large arches and the underwater caverns of Grutas do Xorino.
- An old Moorish arch on Travessa de Igreja Velha indicates the place where a primitive mosque stood and is now the town's first church.
- Zoo Marine: aquariums, rides, a swimming pool, a 4D cinema, bird shows, and the chance to interact with dolphins. www.zoomarine.com
- Golf Courses: Balaia Golf Village, Sheraton Pine Cliffs, Salgados Golf Club

Faro

The capital of the district, Faro, is a city with much to see. The walls that surrounded the town are from Moorish and medieval times. What remains from the past can still be seen in churches and museums. Faro is outlined with noble residences that bear witness to Faro's splendor in centuries past. Narrow streets of whitewashed houses recall the town's Moorish heritage.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Hermitage of Nossa Senhora do O (Our Lady of O)

Situated on the ramparts, this chapel was rebuilt after the earthquake of 1755 and has an interesting facade. It is probably here, during the period of Moorish rule, that a statue of the Virgin mentioned in one of the Canticles of Santa Maria was kept.

Cathedral

The Cathedral dominates the center of the Old Town of Faro. A large part of the Gothic church was destroyed in the 1755 earthquake and later rebuilt. Only the tower and a south window are left from the original building. The cathedral was constructed in Gothic, Renaissance, and Baroque styles.

Carmo Church (Igreja do Carmo)

To the north of St Peter's Square lies the wide Largo do Carmo, dominated by this twin towered Baroque church. It houses an important collection of religious statuary; including nine statues of the Triumphal procession which are the work of the Algarvean sculptor and carver Manuel Martins. Next to the Carmo Church you will find the Bone Chapel, which is a must see!

Bone Chapel (Capela de Ossos Bone Chapel)

Visit in the morning since they close early in the afternoon.

Next to the Carmelite church (Igreja do Carmo) is the "Bone Chapel" which is lined with the bones of monks. The inscription over the door reads "Stop here and think of the fate that will befall you – 1816", a helpful reminder put in place by the Carmelite monks who built the chapel that year on the grounds of the larger church dating to 1719.

Infante Dom Henrique Archaeological Museum/Monastery of Nossa Senhora da Assunção

The Archaeological museum and church was built on the site of the old Jewish quarter. Work on the church and monastery continued from 1519 until 1550. The building was completed by Queen Catarina (1507-1578) and is an important example of the art of the first renaissance in the Algarve.

Ramparts and Castle

Faro's defensive walls were raised by the Moorish prince, Ben Bekr, in the 9th century. The two barbican towers which defend the entrance to the Arco do Repouso (Arch of Rest), originated as the reinforcement of the city's defenses during the 12th & 13th centuries.

OTHER SITES

- Maritime Museum - This museum houses a small but interesting ethnographic collection related to marine activities and fishing in the Algarve, including models of the different types of vessel used.
- Misericórdia Church - It is the only church in the Algarve built in the form of a Greek cross to a plan that is believed to have been the work of an architect from Lisbon.
- Episcopal Palace - This is one of the Algarve's foremost buildings in the "cha" (plain) architectural style which predominated at the end of the 16th and throughout the 17th century.
- Celeiro de São Francisco - This octagonal structure was built within a garden as a place to take shelter from the heat.
- Hermitage of Santo António do Alto / Antonine Museum - Built beside a watchtower in the Middle Ages, the chapel retains a stone marking the year of its construction – 1355.
- Arco da Vila - Located at the south end of the Jardim Manuel Bivar, is this arched gateway surmounted by a bell tower and a statue of Faro's patron saint, St Thomas Aquinas. Through the gateway lies the very attractive historical center of Faro, part of which is still surrounded by a 13th century wall.

Gibraltar

A trip to Southern Spain would not be complete without a trip to "The Rock" of Gibraltar! Thought to be one of the two Pillars of Hercules, Gibraltar has long been a coveted strategic military location dating back to the days of the Islamic conquest of Spain. Gibraltar is believed to have received its name from the corruption of the Arabic phrase "Jebel Tariq" which translates as Tariq's Mountain. Today, Gibraltar is under British control which is why a passport is required to visit this mini piece of Great Britain in Andalucia.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Rock of Gibraltar

"The Rock," which is made of limestone, is the top attraction of Gibraltar and riddled with over 140 known caves including the Great Siege Tunnels, St. Michael's Cave, and the Ape's Den. Take the cable car up to the summit of the rock. It is opened Mon-Sat from 9:30-1715; the last car down is at 1745.

The Great Siege Tunnels is only a small part of the 32-mile network that housed up to 18,000 Allied soldiers during World War II. Excavated during the Great Siege of 1779-83 to permit the mounting of a gun on the North Face of the Rock, they were later extended to provide an impregnable line of artillery.

Barbary Apes

The Ape's Den is full of Barbary apes brought over from Africa by the Moors. Legend has it that when the Apes disappear from "The Rock" so will the British!

Saint Michael's Cave

Opened until 18:30 - Taxi tours are also offered (usually cost around 30€) St. Michael's Cave served as a hospital during the war but now hosts summer musical concerts. One of Europe's most dramatic natural grottoes, the cave is a unique subterranean auditorium, now a special venue for concerts and other live performances.

The Gibraltar Museum

Hours of operation: Monday to Friday from 1000 - 1800. Saturday from 1000 - 1400. Closed Sundays.

See the unique story of Gibraltar with a specially produced film and many galleries full of original artifacts, old prints and photographs. Take a tour through time, from the origins of the Rock 200-million years ago to the Gibraltarians of today and its natural history. In the basement is the best-preserved Moorish Bath House in Europe.

Main Street - (pedestrian shopping zone) the shopping center of the Western Mediterranean; the range of gifts is quite enormous from delicate glassware, priceless porcelain, unusual pottery, leather, perfumes, spirits jewelry, silks or cashmere.

OTHER SIGHTS

- Alameda Botanical Gardens - visit the attractive 19th-century gardens and relax after shopping or sightseeing.
- Jews' Gate -this spot commands spectacular views of the magnificent Rif Mountains of Morocco and the towering Jebel Musa, the second Pillar of Hercules.
- Moorish Castle - the 14th-century Tower of Homage is a survivor of countless sieges and a testament to a once larger complex, which reached Casemates on the waterfront; now used as a short-term prison.
- Lighthouse - situated on the southernmost tip of Gibraltar, the lighthouse at Europa is the only one outside the UK, which is regulated by Trinity House.

- Catalan Bay - from your panoramic vantage point you will see the delightful beach and village of Catalan Bay, home to some of the original Genoese settlers in the eighteenth century and a haven for Spaniards fleeing from Napoleon's invasion of Spain in the nineteenth century.

LOCAL CULTURE

Enjoy some authentic fish & chips. What better place to enjoy some fish & chips with a pint of British Ale than in Gibraltar? There are plenty of pubs and taverns offering this quintessential British meal.

Get a picture of the Barbary Apes of "The Rock." This is one of the iconic photos from Gibraltar but use caution when you're around the apes. These famed apes are notoriously bad-mannered. Be careful having food or shiny objects around them as they have been known to steal and run.

Shop Duty-Free! All shops in Gibraltar are duty-free so splurge and purchase some souvenirs. There are a range of items from beautiful linens and traditional British products to cheesy souvenirs and more!

TRAVEL TIPS

Gibraltar takes euros. You do not need to change your money to Gibraltar pounds, as you may run into troubles converting back to euros/dollars.

REMEMBER YOUR PASSPORT! Check that you have it before making the drive!

If you drive, it is usually best to park in Spain and walk across the border. The line going into Gibraltar from Spain can be long during the summer, sometimes as long as 3 hours by car to get through. Getting around Gibraltar is easy and there are plenty of taxis.

Lisbon: A truly international city

Once the launching spot for many of the voyages of discovery (notably Vasco da Gama's epic journey to India), Lisbon was the first true world city, the capital of an empire spreading over all continents, from South America (Brazil) to Asia (Macao, China; Goa, India). It is forever known as the city of the explorers.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Praça do Comércio

This is the main plaza in Lisbon facing the water and host to many of the city's large events like an international marathon held each December and the New Year's Eve celebration (not in 2009-2010 due to construction on the plaza). On the opposing edge of the plaza is the Augusta Triumphal Arch which leads into the all the shopping streets.

Castelo de S. Jorge

Hours of Operation: 0900-2100 (Mar-Oct) & 0900-1800 (Nov-Feb)

Set on the highest point of Lisbon, the castle can be seen from almost every point in the city. It is also a great location to view 360 degree of the city.

Belém District

This historic area has the Discoveries Monument, Vasco de Gama's final resting place at Jeronimos monastery and the world heritage site of Torre de Belem. Please be advised that most of Belém's monuments are closed on Mondays.

- Torre de Belém – Hours of Operation: 1000-1700 (Oct-April) & 1000-1830 (May-Sept); Closed Mondays
- Discoveries Monument – Hours of Operation: 1000-1800; Closed Mondays
- Jeronimos' monastery – Hours of Operation: 1000-1700 (Oct-April) & 1000-1800 (May-Sept); Closed Mondays

OTHER SIGHTS

Coach Museum (Museu dos Coches) has one of the most amazing collection of old carriages in the world.

Other Museums: Ancient Art, Chiado (Contemporary Art), Tile, Archaeology, Ethnology, Costume, Theater, Maritime, Military, City, Gulbenkian, Modern Art Center, and the Ricardo Espirito Santo Silva Foundation.

Palaces open to the public: Ajuda and Fronteira.

Christ the King Sanctuary (Santuário do Cristo Rei) - The 110 meter high statue of Christ offers a magnificent panoramic view over Lisbon and River Tagus.

Churches: Cathedral (with Treasury); São Vicente de Fora; Conceição Velha (Manueline), São Roque and Sacred Art; Madre Deus; Santa Engrácia Pantheon (Baroque), and the Estrela Basilica.

Nightlife Areas: Av. 24 de Julho (Alcântara), Bairro Alto, Docas (Doca de Alcântara) and Parque das Nações

LOCAL CULTURE

Walk the city's first promenade. Tree-lined and tiled the entire way, the Avenida da Liberdade is beautiful. Along the walk there are several stores, cafés and restaurants including the Hard Rock Café. You can start at the Restauradores metro stop and head towards the large Marquis de Pombal roundabout (also the location of a similar named metro stop).

Ride the trams. Lisbon has several trams that run up the steepest hills and saves you the uphill slog. Plus it's a unique way to travel around the city.

Enjoy Portugal's famous pastries. Pateis de Belém has been making their famous pastries since 1837. They keep the recipe a secret and for good reason, on any given day, there is a line out the door. You can grab a pastry to-go or eat in their tiled tearooms.

Day trip to Sintra or Cascais. Two very different villages are within a short train ride from Lisbon. The Never-Never land of Sintra is brimming with castles scattered over its rolling hills. Its historic centre is listed as an Unesco World Heritage site. Cascais is a seaside village full of pastel-colored buildings. Today, it's one of the liveliest resort towns on the Estoril coast.

Hear some live music. During the summertime, the city brings in several live music acts from around the world. In recent years, Jack Johnson, Metallica, The Killers, Dave Matthews Band, Black-Eyed Peas and more have performed in Lisbon. For more traditional music, visit one of their Fado houses to listen to music unique to Portugal.

TRAVELER TIPS

Watch your pockets and purse. Like all big cities, there is lots of petty theft. Follow smart city travel tips and you should be fine. If you're driving to Lisbon, remove all valuable items from plain view.

Most of Lisbon's museums and monuments (especially those in Belem) are close on Mondays. This is a good day to go up to the castle or to visit the Oceanarium, which are both opened every day.

Purchase the LisboaCard. To save money on entrance fees to major attractions and public transportation (including the Metro), consider buying this card which is sold at tourist offices or online at www.lisboacard.com.

TRANSPORT

Due to the public transport infrastructure, it is difficult to get to Lisbon from Rota without your own personal vehicle or extended travel time.

By Car: Approximately 6-6.5 hours driving time. The route may include toll roads. Choose the best travel route for yourself on the ViaMichelin website at www.viamichelin.com.

By Train: Approximately 9.5 hours from Madrid to Lisbon on the overnight train and approximately 3 hours from Sevilla's Santa Justa to Madrid. If you do not have a car, you can reach Santa Justa station from El Puerto de Santa Maria train station. Check out the RENFE website for current train schedules and prices at www.renfe.es.

By Bus: International buses run from Estacion de Autobuses Plaza des Armas in Sevilla to Gare do Oriente.

By Airplane: The major Spanish airlines, Iberia and Spanair, fly from several airports in Andalucia to Lisbon via Madrid or Barcelona. Their websites are www.iberia.com or www.spanair.com.

Vila Real de Santo Antonio: The frontier town with Spain

This town was a small fishing port and dates back to Phoenician times. Due to the flatness of the area, the neighboring hill of Castro Marim helped strengthened the location. This frontier town with Spain was specially designed and rebuilt after the devastating earthquake of 1755 by the Marquês de Pombal. This town is best for shopping and trying the Portuguese cuisine. Although it is not particularly known for sightseeing, there are areas nearby worth visiting.
